

Musicians touring with Beauty and the Beast Receive Sub-standard pay For a Sub-standard show

Professional musicians want the public to know:

- Networks Presentations, LLC., the tour producer of Disney's Beauty and the Beast, hires musicians at rates of pay and under conditions that are unreasonable and unacceptable.
- Networks Presentations, LLC., is presenting Disney's Beauty and the Beast with a reduced orchestration of only 11 musicians – less than half that of the wonderful original Broadway score of 26 players.

When you buy a ticket to a “Smash Hit Broadway Musical” you should get what you’ve paid for. Patrons of a Disney show deserve to hear the original Broadway award-winning score, not a cheaper, cut-down version played by a smaller orchestra.

This message is brought to you by the American Federation of Musicians of the United States and Canada and is informational in nature. We are not asking patrons or any employer to cease doing business with anyone or any other employer. Visit www.afm.org or call 1-800-762-3444 for additional information.